▼ 'COSMO GIRLS' PREVIEW PARTY: Lyah LeFlore (c) and Charlotte Burley (r), authors of Cosmopolitan Girls, are congratulated by (l-r) philanthropist Sherry Bronfman, Jimmy Rodriguez of Jimmy's Uptown and Kedar Massenburg, president-CEO of Universal/Motown Records Group, at the preview press reception for their debut novel in New York. Bronfman and literary agent Marie Brown hosted the event at the home of costume designer Richard Owings and architect Mark Anderson. Guests listened to excerpts from the book and viewed fashions by Marie Claudinette Jean of Fusha Designs (JET, Oct. 6). Models strutted to the music of Wyclef Jean, Marie Claudinette's husband. Attendees included Gayle King, Flo Anthony and Lynn Whitfield. LeFlore, a native of St. Louis, is vice president of production and development for Alan Haymon Entertainment, Inc. Burley, a native of New York, is a writer/producer for the Sci Fi Channel.
